Hosting a Rally Can be Fun and Exciting!

Our wagon masters have lined up some great rallies for the group next year, but they need some help to make the events even more special. What is “Hosting” anyway? As a host, you just figure out fun things to do while we are together. Potluck dinners? A multi-day corn hole tournament? Fireside trivia game? Charades under the stars? Maybe research some fun adventures near the camp that the group can participate in? Find activities that that you want to share and figure out what day/time works best. Easy peasy! Try something new. Movie Night? Boom boom room? Spooky stories around the fire? Bingo night? Make it fun and memorable.

Tech Tip of the Month

Are RV Toilet Chemicals Necessary?

One of the best things about traveling in an RV is that you get to bring your own bathroom with you, but there are downsides that go with the convenience. Namely you have to deal with cleaning the tanks and possibly related odors.

Why Specialized RV toilet chemicals are recommended?

Odor control: Chemicals contain ingredients that help neutralize odors, keeping your RV smelling fresh.

Waste breakdown: They help break down waste and toilet paper, preventing clogs and buildup in the tank.

System maintenance: They prevent the formation of sludge and keep the tank and plumbing in good condition.

What about if I am trying to cut down on my use of chemicals?

There is a solution for you. Water! Lots and lots of water. I know people are in the habit of conserving a precious resource, but this is not the place to skimp. When you flush, hold the pedal down for at least 10 seconds at each event and twice plus that amount if you are sitting down. Don’t be shy. A 15 second flush will only add about 1 gallon to the tank, and most black tanks hold at least 12 gallons, with some as large as 30+ gallons! The most important part of the water method is to dump your tanks daily and give them a really good rinsing while you are at it. The system works!

Maintaining your black tank is a choice: a little extra water/effort or buying/adding chemicals. Take your pick and use what works best for your situation.
